NEW AUSTRALIAN CRIME! PETER MILNE RECOMMENDS...

P M Newton The Old School

Not every member of the NSW police force has welcomed the half-Vietnamese Nhu 'Ned' Kelly into a job where the old school make the rules. When two bodies are discovered in an old Bankstown building, Ned is drawn into Sydney's dirty past - and the murky history of her own family. Bit by bit she gains ground on the murderer - just as he gains ground on her. Soon Ned must decide who is on her side - and who wants her dead.

DCI Sloan Mystery #22
Janet Wakefield is shocked by a call from the Berebury Nursing Home, informing her that her husband's estranged great-aunt, Josephine Short, has passed away. Janet is sure that her husband Bill was the last of Josephine's close family, so she is taken aback when a handsome young man introduces himself at the funeral as Josephine's grandson. Meanwhile detectives Sloan and Crosby find themselves two rather puzzling cases. First, there's the young woman's body which has been discovered in the River Alm. And then there's the mysterious break-in at Berebury Nursing Home, Josephine's room to be precise. It becomes apparent to Sloan and Crosby that the two cases are connected... but who can the killer be? To quote The Times: "Never less than elegant and mischievously sharp".

Alice Rice #4
As Heather Brodie kisses her lover goodnight, her disabled husband lies dead, his throat cut from ear to ear. Who wanted Gavin Brodie dead? Many people, including Gavin Brodie. Crushed by an incurable illness, he pleaded to be allowed to die. When Alice Rice is brought in to investigate another terminally-ill man is found murdered. Is it just a coincidence? Or is there a serial killer with a mission to get rid of the sick and infirm? And Alice has more worries when she suspects her partner, Ian Melville, is lying to her. What secret is he hiding? This atmospheric thriller builds on the success of the first three Alice Rice mysteries, and is a passionate tale.

REVIEW BY PETER SMITH

John le Carré Our Kind of Traitor

This is the sort of book you read in one sitting! British couple Perry and Gail, holidaying in Antigua, meet the aggressive, charismatic Dima - a Russian of huge wealth who dreams of settling his family in England and is prepared to betray his fellow oligarchs by divulging illegalities involving the UK banking and political establishment. Tension builds relentlessly as Perry and Gail become entangled in Dima's plans. Le Carré gives Dima an original and authentic voice - the best dialogue since Mark Dapin's King of the Cross (Pb $22.99). Venturing behind the headlines, the story is immediate, compulsively readable and disturbing in its implications.

Deliver Us from Evil

Hennessy & Yellich Mystery #20 When a woman's body is found frozen on a bench one winter's morning, it appears to be a simple case of death by misadventure. On closer inspection, however, marks on her neck - and a piece of paper hidden inside her shoe - point towards foul play. As Hennessey and Yellich investigate, they discover that the victim may not have been all she seemed. [English, Police Procedural] 176pp Pb $27.95

Michael Van Rooy
An Ordinary Decent Criminal

For a man who's never held down a legitimate job, settling down to a quiet life with his wife and baby isn't going to be easy. When recovering addict and reformed thief Montgomery Haaviko foils a robbery in his home and kills the intruders, he finds there are those who don't want him to forget what he was. Detective Sergeant Enzo Walsh knows all about Monty's history and is determined to put Monty away for murder.

Hugh Anderson
The Rise and Fall of Squizzy Taylor

Melbourne, 1920s
Gangs operated in hotels and brothels, gunshots were fired in the streets of Fitzroy, and sly grog shops, armed robbery and protection rackets were rife. Through it all strode the notorious Squizzy Taylor, always one step ahead of the police. The press eagerly reported his crimes, marvelling at his daring, but was he really anything more than a bloody-minded criminal who would one day get what he deserved?

El Sicario: Confessions of a Cartel Hit Man

El Sicario is the hidden face of America's war on drugs. He is a contract killer who functioned as a commandante in the Chihuahuan State police, trained in the US by the FBI, and who for 20 years kidnapped, tortured and murdered people at the behest of Mexican drug cartels. He is a hit man who came off the killing fields alive. He left the business and turned to Christ. This is his story.

Shotgun and Standover: The Story of the Painters and Dockers

Few names in Australian criminal history are as redolent as the Painters and Dockers - a union gone bad. From the early years of the 20th century, they attracted shady waterfront characters, and by the 1980s, they became a fully fledged criminal fraternity. From Squizzy Taylor to recent gangland wars in Melbourne, their story touches almost every part of our underworld history.
