"WHERE A GOOD CRIME CAN BE HAD BY ALL"

ISSUE #255 APRIL 2007

AUTHOR OF THE MONTH

LEIGH REDHEAD

"The best Australian crime novel this year has been Leigh Redhead's Rubdown"
- Weekend Australian

Australian author Leigh Redhead's first two novels were greeted with much acclaim and have now been reissued at the special price of $12.95 each. The first was Peepshow, which introduced us to Simone Kirsch, followed by Rubdown. Now comes the third in the series, Cherry Pie (Pb 420pp $19.95).

Simone Kirsch – ex-stripper, sex kitten, private investigator and drinker of more cheap wine than is good for her – is back, setting up her own PI agency and getting into more trouble with her clients, her lovers and the police. Just how much trouble can one girl get into? If it's Simone Kirsch, then it's a lot!

'The Simone Kirsch Detective Agency' – it has a nice ring about it, thinks Simone. And she's willing to bump, grind and shimmy until she's got enough money to make it happen. But nothing ever really runs quite to plan for Simone.

Andi Fowler, a childhood friend and now journalism student, turns up at the strip joint in need of a detective, yet unwilling to tell Simone anything more than that she's got something explosively 'big' on someone in hospitality. And the whole frenetically fast, chaotically connected case starts right there.

By the next afternoon, Andi has mysteriously vanished. Restaurant corruption, an insane celebrity chef, an untraceable possum head, a conveniently absent boyfriend and a surprising amount of family history aside, Simone still has to deal with her continuing desire for Alex, her favourite policeman, while racing the clock in her desperate search for Andi.

With enough red herrings and jaw-dropping surprises to shake even Simone, this latest story is unputdownable. The series is great and I eagerly look forward to more adventures of Simone.
