Cut and Run

340pp Tp 29.95

Many years ago, Ellen Mosley became Eve Michaels. She left her husband, her adored children and her safe living for a life on the run, a new lover and $500,000. But when she found that the money belonged to the Mob and that they weren't too happy about losing it, there was only one choice: She returned the cash to its owners. The Mafia, impressed by her balls - and her smarts - offered her a job in the family and she thrived. Now, her grown-up son, Whit, wants to find her. His father is dying and he wants to call Ellen Mosley to her husband's deathbed to pay her dues. But when he finally tracks her down, it could not be at a worse time. Eve's position in the organisation is under attack, and soon enough both mother and son are on the run from the Mob again... (American)

White Rage

373pp Tp 29.95

Lou Perlman returns to Glasgow's dark underbelly in this atmospheric novel. When a young Asian entrepreneur dies in a suspicious fall from his high-rise apartment and an Indian kindergarten teacher is gunned down in front of her class, it is clear to DS Lou Perlman that he is dealing with racially motivated murders. The emergence of a group called White Rage and a growing sense of fear across the city of Glasgow means that Perlman needs some answers quickly. At the same time, he needs to make sense of a crime that is closer to home, the mysterious shooting of his own brother Colin. Lou's conviction that the killing is connected to the underworld boss Leo Kilroy nags at his mind almost as much as his unspoken love for Colin's widow, Miriam. (Irish)

Lawrence BLOCK

The Burglar on the Prowl

291pp Pb 21.95

The new Bernie Rhodenbarr mystery. Sophisticated yet down-to-earth, philosophical yet practical, Bernie is a gentleman who knows and loves his territory, the gloriously diverse and electric streets of Manhattan; a connoisseur who surrounds himself with the finer things in life, including his tailless Manx tabby Raffles, and good friends like his neighbour Carolyn. In fact, it is a friend who gets him in his latest jam. Bernie is minding his own business when he is asked for a favour - a neat, uncomplicated bit of vengeful larceny that will reap a tidy profit, an offer the intrepid thief cannot refuse. (American)

Anna BLUNDY

The Bad News Bible

277pp Tp 32.95

Meet Faith Zanetti, War Correspondent. "This book is about Faith Zanetti, a war correspondent, who is loosely based on me. I say loosely because I am a housewife who doesn't smoke or drink and she is a war correspondent who chain smokes and drinks a lot of neat vodka. She is brave and funny and beautiful and in this book she's in Jerusalem investigating a friend's violent death and reporting on the ongoing war. Faith and her friends spend most of their time in the bar and they are all irreverent and hilarious. I'm an insider here to the extent that my dad was a war correspondent and I spent a lot of time when I was little sitting in the bar at the American Colony Hotel in Jerusalem where this book's set, listening to the war stories and the gossip. Dad was killed in El Salvador in 1989. I was a journalist myself for ten years, mostly for the Times, and I was the Times correspondent in Moscow in the late nineties. Hope you'll love the book!" - Anna (English)

Larry AXELROOD

The Advocate (2000)

304pp Pb 14.95

Criminal defence attorney Darcy Cole is facing one of the biggest cases of his distinguished career, but at the same time he must deal with his own midlife crisis. He has just won an acquittal for his client, the beautiful, self-centred Lynne Tobias, from the charge of murdering her husband, a prominent Chicago attorney. But now Tobias faces federal charges of conspiracy to defraud an insurance company in connection with the death of her husband. (American)

White Skin Man 245pp Tp 29.95

The dark, hook-nosed man held an incredible fascination for photographer Katy Madika as she took shots of the sunlit docks. She was strangely drawn to his striking looks and it was perhaps fate that her camera ended up being the only witness to his murder... Katy runs, clutching the precious evidence, but the killer comes after her and claims the camera, warning her against ever revealing what she saw. But unbeknownst to him, she has already palmed the digital images. When she returns to the spot, the body is gone and for weeks there is no indication that anything had happened. Stone Lewis, for the first time in a long time, is happy. But when Katy comes into his life and tells the story of the strange murder, he is once again drawn into the dark side of life. (English)

Rita Mae BROWN*The Tail of the Tip-Off*365pp Pb 17.95

A Mrs Murphy mystery #11. Postmistress Mary Minor 'Harry' Haristeen and her friends keep warm with hard work, hot toddies and the University of Virginia's women's basketball team at the old stadium affectionately dubbed 'The Clam.' But the usual post-game high spirits are laid low when contractor HH Donaldson drops dead in the parking lot. And pretty soon word has spread that it was not a heart attack that did him in. Things that don't sit right with Harry make her restless, curious and prone to poking her not-very-sensitive human nose into dangerous places. So the animals start paying closer attention to what the people around them are doing and they are the first ones to realise when the next murder occurs. (American)

Ian CALDWELL & Dustin THOMASONThe Rule of Four*370pp Tp 29.95

This riveting novel about power, obsession, a priceless Renaissance book and a centuries-old mystery is a cross between The Name of the Rose (Pb 24.95) and The Secret History (Pb 22.95). Tom Sullivan is about to graduate from Princeton. He is intelligent and popular but haunted by the violent death of his father several years earlier. His father was an academic who devoted his life to studying one of the most complex and valuable books in the world. Since its publication in 1499, the Hypnerotomachia Poliphili has baffled scholars. Coded in seven languages, the text is at once a passionate love story, an intricate mathematical labyrinth and a tale of arcane brutality. Paul Harris, Tom's roommate, has deeply personal reasons for wanting to unveil the secrets the book hides. When a long-lost diary surfaces, it seems the two friends have found the key to the labyrinth but what they discover embedded in the text stuns them: the passion of a Renaissance prince, a hidden crypt and a secret worth dying to protect. Highly recommended - Peter (American)

Dana CAMERONA Fugitive Truth 336pp Pb 15.95

An Emma Fielding mystery. The opportunity of a lifetime awaits archaeologist Emma Fielding in the Berkshire foothills of Western Massachusetts: the chance to study the 18th-century diary of Margaret Chandler, the accused witch and murderess whose home Emma excavated only months before. However, the three other Shrewsbury Foundation fellows she must share the premises with are a disturbingly odd bunch, and before too long one of them is dead. (American)

Mary Higgins CLARKNight-time is My Time*370pp Hb 39.95

Jean Sheridan returns to her hometown to attend the 20-year reunion of Stonecroft Academy, where she is to be honoured along with six other members of her class. There is, however, something uneasy in the air: one woman in the group, Alison Kenall, a high-powered Hollywood agent, died just a few days before. She is the fifth woman in the class whose life has come to a sudden, mysterious end. At the award dinner, Jean does not suspect that among the distinguished people she is greeting is the "Owl," a murderer nearing the countdown on his mission of vengeance against the Stonecroft women who had mocked or humiliated him, with Jean his final intended victim. (American)

Harlan COBENJust One Look 371pp Tp 29.95

A convicted hit man suddenly confesses to a 20-year-old murder, the slaying of a District Attorney's sister. A businessman tries to go on the run from his family home when an old photograph of him as a young man turns up in a new roll of film. But on leaving his house, he is snatched by a vicious, trained killer and bundled into the back of a waiting car. These things are linked, but by what, or whom, no one knows. Only that the past is coming back to haunt the present and people are getting hurt. (American)

Max Allan COLLINSThe London Blitz Murders*257pp Pb 15.95

London, 1942, the German Blitz has devastated the city, but its citizens have something worse to fear: a modern-day Jack the Ripper. Investigating the case is renowned pathologist Sir Bernard Spilsbury with assistance from England's First Lady of Crime, Agatha Christie. (American)

Beverly CONNORSkeleton Crew (1999)*413pp Pb 14.95

A Lindsay Chamberlain novel. In 1558, a loaded Spanish galleon headed for the New World sank off the coast of Georgia. Now, inside one of the largest cofferdams ever built for purposes of archaeology, Lindsay Chamberlain is excavating the site on the ocean floor. Her research reveals that at least one passenger survived to tell the tale of the ship's voyage and destruction. His diary, written in code in a mix of Latin shorthand and archaic Spanish, reveals details of the voyage and tells of a galleon on its way to Spain loaded with a vast treasure of gold, silver, and precious jewels. The diary also reveals that a murder occurred on the journey and provides Lindsay with a skeleton crew of suspects. (American)

Philip CRAIGVineyard Fear 254pp Pb 15.95

A Martha's Vineyard mystery. Escaping the city and its violence, ex-cop JW Jackson found solace in fishing, cooking and simply enjoying life on Martha's Vineyard and nothing, he figures, will ever entice him to leave. However, suddenly there is a very real possibility that his ladylove Zee will be departing the idyllic island forever. And when a young student commits suicide, and a girlfriend-abusing thug starts spewing vicious threats, JW seriously considers a temporary escape from paradise. Then, three attempts on his life propel him off-island and onto the trail of a stalker. (American)

James DAVIDBefore the Cradle Falls*374pp Pb 15.95

Paralysed by drink and despair since the accidental death of his young daughter Shelby, Detective Kyle Sommers nonetheless must lead a task force to catch a brutal serial killer. Nicknamed the Cradle Robber, this murderer has methodically snuffed out the lives of children all along the California coast. Now he has come to Portland. While investigating, Sommers learns that a strange man has been saving local children from various dangers, then mysteriously disappearing. With the help of Sherrie Nolan, a brilliant and embittered scientist, Sommers learns that the man is a time traveller who, grieving for his own murdered child, has vowed to use his brilliant mind to create a way for a future generation of children to live. (American)

Philip DAVISONThe Long Suit 277pp Pb 22.95

On the second green of a Long Island golf course there is a corpse with a bullet-hole in his forehead. The call goes out for Harry Fielding to come in from the cold. With a new suit and a new partner, Harry is back where he least wants to be: playing the deadly games of MI5. Always a triangular peg in a square hole, Harry has never felt easy with the protocol, the procedure and the need-to-know principles of the British secret service. And it does not help that his apprentice Johnny Weeks is a troublemaker. Going back to the work he hates but does so well, all Harry really wants is to rekindle his relationships with his ailing, amnesiac father and his ex-wife, who appears to be sleeping with his boss. Will this be his last chance: the fresh start that will restore moral equilibrium to a crooked man who wants to go straight? (Irish)

David DIAMOND The Daughter-in-Law

373pp Pb 15.95

From the steamy Caribbean tropics to the penthouses of New York City, dark secrets and bitter rivalry push a new bride and her mother-in-law to the very edge in this gripping novel of seduction and murder. (American)

Eileen DREYER*A Man to Die For (1991)

471pp Pb 17.95

Trauma nurse Casey McDonogh is plagued by the nagging suspicion that Dr Dale Hunsacker, the new and popular obstetrician at her St Louis hospital, is a psychopathic killer. The trouble is, no one believes her. When Hunsacker begins unearthing secrets from Casey's past, the threat moves even closer to home. With the help of an ex-Marine homicide sergeant, Casey will put her suspicions to work to trap a killer. "A wicked prescription guaranteed to give you sleepless nights." - Nora Roberts (American)

Eileen DREYERNothing Personal (1994)

464pp Pb 17.95

Burned-out critical care nurse Kate Manion wakes up from an accident in the worst possible place, the hospital where she works. Then her very own nurse, Attila the Buns, falls over dead, but it is no laughing matter. A serial killer is stalking the hospital staff, and one of Kate's friends may be the murderer. (American)

Roger Jon ELLORY Ghostheart

344pp Tp 29.95

Annie O'Neill has it all: A cosy Manhattan apartment, a beautiful bookshop and a network of supportive friends. But at the heart of her life is a hole, a place vacated by her father when he died in her childhood. So when a mysterious man named Forrester enters the shop and claims to be her father's oldest friend, she jumps at the chance to find out more of her own past. But he is not being free with the answers she needs. He is much more interested in telling her a story about a ruthless gang lord and a 50-year-old betrayal, which she will realise far too slowly has something very much to do with her. This author was shortlisted for the CWA Ian Fleming Steel Dagger Award in 2003 for Candlemoth (Tp 29.95). (English)

Mary Anna EVANS Artifacts

288pp Pb 15.95

A Poisoned Pen Press mystery. Faye Longchamp has lost nearly everything except for her quick mind and a grim determination to hang onto her ancestral home, Joyeuse. No one knows how Faye's great-great-grandmother Cally, a newly freed slave barely out of her teens, came to own Joyeuse in the aftermath of the Civil War. No one knows how her descendants hung on to it through Reconstruction, world wars, the Depression and Jim Crow, but Faye has inherited the island plantation and the family tenacity. When the property taxes rise beyond her means, she sets out to save Joyeuse by digging for artefacts on her property and the surrounding National Wildlife Refuge and selling them on the black market. But instead of potsherds and arrowheads, she uncovers a woman's shattered skull; a Jackie Kennedy-style earring nestled against its bony cheek. Faye is torn. If she reports the 40-year-old murder, she will reveal her illegal livelihood, thus risking jail and the loss of Joyeuse. So she probes into the dead woman's history, unaware that the past is rushing up on her like a hurricane across deceptively calm waters. (American)

Ron FAUSTDead Men Rise Up Never

327pp Pb 15.95

Peter Falconer, the son of wealthy parents who stands to gain a fortune in inheritance on his 30th birthday, is missing and presumed dead. Ex-Army investigator Daniel Shaw is summoned by the devious and incredibly witty attorney Tom Petrie to rescue Peter and the inheritance money. The pursuit leads Daniel from the Keys to Jamaica to South America, where he tangles with the larger-than-life criminal Raven Ahriman and his partner, Charles Angleton, who was Peter's childhood friend and orchestrated his disappearance in connection with some dubious dealings in snuff films and the death of two young girls who participated in the filming. (American)

Gerritsen expands the scope of her landscape of terror in a thoroughly menacing new thriller. Dr Emma Watson, a brilliant research physician, has been training for the mission of a lifetime: to study living organisms in space. Jack McCallum, Emma's estranged husband, has shared her dream of space travel, but a medical condition has grounded him. Now, he must watch from the sidelines. The mission aboard the space station turns into a nightmare when a culture of single-celled organisms begins to regenerate out of control and infects the crew with agonising and deadly results. Emma struggles to contain the deadly virus, while back home Jack and NASA work against the clock to bring her home. (American)

Lesley GLAISTER As Far As You Can Go

327pp Tp 29.95

"Great opportunity for the right applicants: Western Australia. Housekeeper/companions required. Would suit young couple. Remote, rural location. Cooking, cleaning, gardening and caring duties. Applicants must be self-sufficient and resourceful". Cassie is at a turning point. She wants a child and a bigger commitment from Graham, her artist boyfriend. A year away with him, in the wilds of Australia, could be just the answer. The enigmatic Larry Drake and his strange wife Mara live in Woolagong, an immense farm at the edge of the desert. It is a place of bleak, breathtaking landscape, a world far away from civilisation and London. But its remoteness can make Woolagong a dangerous prison. And the more Graham and Cassie begin to uncover the dark secrets of their mysterious employers, the more trapped they feel. (English)

Actor Toby Flood arrives in Brighton in December with the other cast members of the Joe Orton play Lodger In The Throat. They have been on tour since September, but hopes of a West End transfer have been abandoned and they are all looking forward to the end of the run when Flood is visited by his estranged ex-wife. Jenny is living with wealthy entrepreneur Roger Colborn, whose country residence lies just north of Brighton. She runs a shop in the Lanes and is worried about a strange man who has taken to hanging around outside. Roger has dismissed her concerns, but she wants something done. Reluctantly, Flood agrees, to help her, seeing his opportunity to get Jenny back but not the trouble about to befall him. (English)

Jane HADDAM Conspiracy Theory

418pp Pb 15.95

A Gregor Demarkian mystery. Cavanaugh Street is a mostly quiet Armenian neighbourhood in downtown Philadelphia where nearly everyone knows everyone else and certainly knows their business. But that quiet is destroyed when a bomb destroys the Armenian Orthodox church and Father Tibor Kasparian is hospitalised as a result. What would normally be a front-page event, however, is overshadowed by another, when Philadelphia Main Line society is shocked by the murder of one of their own. Anthony van Wyck Ross, the head of one of the major investment banks and a cornerstone of Main Line society, is murdered at the Around the World Harvest Ball being hosted at his mansion. Now, Gregor Demarkian must see through the conspiratorial haze, a task that takes on personal resonance since Gregor's girlfriend Bennis Hannaford serves as Vice Chairman of the Ball. (American)

Mo HAYDER Tokyo 363pp Tp 32.95

Student Grey Hutchins is seeking a rare piece of film showing the notorious Nanking Massacre in which the Imperial Japanese Army butchered up to 300,000 civilians. Only one man can help her, a survivor of the massacre, and now a visiting professor at the prestigious University of Todai in Tokyo. Desperate and alone, she accepts a job as a hostess in an upmarket nightclub catering for Japanese businessmen and wealthy gangsters. One gangster dominates the club, an old man in a wheelchair guarded by a terrifying entourage. He is said to rely on a powerful elixir for his continued wealth and well being. It is an elixir that others want for themselves... at any price! (English)

David HEWSON The Villa of Mysteries 360pp Tp 30.00

The second novel in the Italian crime series set in Rome, it features Caravaggio-loving Detective Nic Costa. In this title, when a young woman turns up dead in a peat bog, a maverick pathologist thinks she is the victim of an ancient Roman ritual. Wrong! (English)

Kerry JAMIESON The Golden Door 342pp Tp 32.95

 In the unbearable heat of a New York summer in 1930, Irish immigrant Will McCarthy works as a riveter on the tallest skyscraper in the world, spending his days above the clouds and his nights fighting loneliness. When his half-sister Isobel sails out to join him, Will hurries to meet her at Ellis Island, only to find that she seems to have vanished before passing through immigration control. And so begins Will's quest, scouring the teeming tenements for a red-haired girl who now haunts his dreams. This book captures brilliantly the mood of Prohibition-era New York, when the glittering towers of modern Manhattan were rising from every street corner as the American Dream came crashing down. (American)

Jonathan KELLERMAN The Conspiracy Club 406pp Pb 19.95

 When psychologist Dr Jeremy Carrier's romance with nurse Jocelyn Banks is cut short by her kidnapping and brutal murder, he is left emotionally devastated and being watched by police seeking a prime suspect in the unsolved killing. To escape the pain, he buries himself in his work. But when more women turn up murdered in the same gruesome fashion, the suspicion surrounding Jeremy intensifies and the only way for him to prove his innocence is to follow the trail of a cunning psychopath. Spurring on Jeremy's investigation is Dr Arthur Chess, an enigmatic pathologist who draws Jeremy into the confidence of a cryptic society devoted to matters unknown and unspoken. But when Arthur suddenly slips away, Jeremy is left to contend with an onslaught of anonymous clues and the growing realisation that a harrowing game of cat and mouse has been started. (American)

Percy KEMP The Boone System 298pp Tp 28.00

An infamous Islamic militant defects and becomes British Intelligence's single most important source of information about global terrorism ... But has he really defected? Exactly who is playing whom here? Beirut-based British Agent Harry Boone is a bon viveur whose elaborate 'system' is tailored precisely to the needs of his clubhouse lifestyle. He devotes most of his energies to enjoying the charms of his mistress Maria, while his bosses in the British Secret Service play into his hands with their snobby factionalism and grinding bureaucracy. A well-timed fax can keep them busy for a week. Becoming a major conduit for high-grade intelligence about global terrorist attacks was not part of the plan. Against his will, Boone is drawn deeper and deeper into a secret world of violence and terror in which nothing and no one is what it seems. Taut, witty and fast-paced, this novel became an instant bestseller in France when it was published last year. (French)

Jack KING The Fifth Internationale 370pp Pb 15.95

The author is a former courier of top-secret information and he delivers a tightly wound, debut thriller centred on a complex and sometimes cloudy conspiracy theory. While working as the deputy legal attaché for the US Embassy in Warsaw, down-to-earth FBI agent Stan Penske witnesses the assassination of his sister's fiancé, a CIA agent who had posited a shocking conspiracy theory. The event throws Stan's life into a tailspin and leads him on a frenzied chase after a group called the Fifth Internationale, an elusive organisation with unthinkable resources, which may be bent on destabilising world power structures and financial markets. (American)

Joyce KRIEG Murder Off Mike 307pp Pb 15.95

 A Talk Radio mystery. Sacramento Talk Radio personality Shauna Bogart loves her drive-time gig. From cranky to controversial to just plain crazy, her guests and callers keep her on her toes, never failing to keep things interesting, for three hours every weekday. But her show takes a turn for the truly bizarre when a listener phones in a tip about the death of fellow jock, Dr Hipster... (American)

William LASHNER

 Fatal Flaw 563pp Pb 17.95
Ethically adventurous Philadelphia lawyer Victor Carl usually does the right thing, but often for the wrong reasons. When old law school classmate Guy Forrest is accused of murdering his beautiful lover Hailey Proulx in their Main Line love nest, Carl agrees to represent him, while keeping silent about his own prior romantic involvement with the victim and his present determination to see his client punished for the brutal crime. But once Carl sets the machinery of retribution in motion, it may be impossible to stop it, even after his certainty begins to crack. (American)

Donna LEON

 Doctored Evidence 245pp Tp 32.95
The new Commissario Brunetti novel. When the body of an wealthy, elderly woman is found brutally murdered in her Venetian flat, it is soon clear to the police that the prime suspect is her maid, who is heading for Rumania. When the border police approach her, she makes a run for it but is killed as she crosses the tracks in front of an oncoming train. She has a considerable sum of money on her and her papers are obvious forgeries. Case closed. But when the old woman's neighbour returns from a business trip in London, it becomes clear that the money on her was not stolen. Commissario Brunetti decides, unofficially, to take the case on himself. (American)

Donna LEON

 Uniform Justice 326pp Pb 21.95
A Commissario Brunetti novel. Neither Brunetti nor his wife Paola have ever had much sympathy for the Italian armed forces so when a young cadet is found hanged, a presumed suicide, in Venice's elite military academy, Brunetti's emotions are complex: pity and sorrow for the death of a boy, close in age to his own son, and contempt and irritation for the arrogance and high-handedness of the boy's teachers and fellow-students. But as Brunetti investigates, the military protects itself and civilians are unwilling to talk. Is this the natural reluctance of Italians to involve themselves with the authorities, or is Brunetti facing a conspiracy of silence? (American)

Elmore LEONARD

 When the Women Come Out to Dance 228pp Pb 22.95
In this short fiction collection, Leonard demonstrates the superb characterisations, dead-on dialogue, vivid atmosphere and driving plots that have made him a household name and once again illustrates that the line between the law and the law-breakers is not as firm as we might think. (American)

Robert LUDLUM & Gayle LYND

 The Altman Code 489pp Pb 18.95
When word reaches the US President that a Chinese cargo ship is transporting chemicals to a rogue nation intent on creating new biological weapons, he knows he must act quickly to obtain the proof he needs. (American)

Patricia MacDONALD

 Suspicious Origin 385pp Pb 17.95
MacDonald delivers her most masterful work to date, a chilling thriller about a woman who, while investigating her sister's death in a house fire of suspicious origin, uncovers the work of a twisted killer who has taken refuge in an idyllic Vermont town. (American)

Scott MACKAY

 Cold Comfort 252pp Pb 13.95
A Barry Gilbert mystery. When the frozen body of Cheryl Latham, stepdaughter of a prominent Toronto politician, is found with a bullet through her heart, overworked, underpaid homicide detective Barry Gilbert inherits the case. The bizarre nature of the crime itself - apparently the woman was shot after she froze to death - and the divergent clues do not bode well for a quick and tidy solution. (Canadian)

Alexander McCALL SMITH

 The Kalahari Typing School for Men 210pp Pb 22.95
The No. 1 Ladies Detective Agency series #4. "Ex-CID. Ex-New York. Ex-cellent" reads the sign outside the Satisfaction Guarantee Detective Agency. Cephas Buthelezi certainly talks the talk, Precious discovers, but would he have the wherewithal to deal with her current case, a man who has been attacked by ostrich rustlers and is eager to reassess his life? Meanwhile, there are difficulties at the Tlokeng Road Speedy Motors, where one of the apprentices has discovered the Lord, problems at home with the mysterious death of a hoopoe, and romantic complications when Mma Makutsi sets up a typing school for men.  The Torment of Others 390pp Tp 29.95

Clinical psychologist Dr Tony Hill and DCI Carol Jordan face the toughest challenge of their careers when they are confronted with an impossible series of murders. Back in Bradfield, after her traumatic experiences in Berlin, Carol is surprised to find Tony has followed her there to take up a post in the local secure mental hospital. When a prostitute is murdered in a particularly grotesque and stomach-churning way, she turns to him for help. Bizarrely, this killing matches in every detail a series of murders that took place a couple of years previously, murders for which Derek Tyler was tried, convicted and sentenced. While Tony tries to crack Tyler, the police decide to mount an undercover operation that goes horribly wrong. (English)

 The Lonely Dead 335pp Tp 29.95

This is a sequel to The Straw Men (Pb 18.95); it picks up where that book left off. Marshall's tone and style give this FBI novel an air of authority, even though it deals with things as unrelated as Bigfoot and international murder conspiracy. His descriptive abilities are very good and his narrative regarding the aftermath of his protagonists' battles with the straw men builds to an amazing stranglehold of confusion, reflecting the speed, anxiety and stress of modern life. Unlike X-Files Fox Mulder's 'The Truth is Out There', Marshall's grand theory seems to be, 'There is No Truth, Only Belief'. I really liked this novel about serial murderers, hunting and the inadequacies of law enforcement. - Shelley (American)

Paris Murphy, half-Irish, half-Lebanese, is extremely good at her job, though far less successful in her private life, which is a mess: she has got an on/off marriage to an ER doctor, a looming affair with a colleague in the forensic department and a mother who always calls at the worst possible moment. Tracking down killers is a far more attractive proposition than tidying up her own affairs and her latest investigation is gripping. The murder of a prostitute in St Paul's is the latest in a series of killings and the police are sure they know who they are after - a successful plastic surgeon, scion of a powerful local family - and it is up to Paris and her partner prove their case. But hard evidence is hard to come by, until Paris herself attracts the killer's attention. (American)

In this chilling series debut, Japanese-American Detective James Sakura must match wits with one of the most brutal killers ever to stalk the streets of New York. Bodies, like desecrated fallen angels, are discovered posed nude except for the white-wings that jut from slits cut into their shoulders. Understanding the shocking fantasy underlying these ritual executions is the key to catching the killer. When an eight-year-old girl becomes the monster's next victim, renowned NYPD homicide detective James Sakura must use all of his skills and every instinct he has to see into the heart of a murderer who believes he is waging a war against God. As time runs out and the killer's targets become those closest to Sakura, he must risk everything to face this madman alone. (American)

Campbell Cody has twice experienced the strike of lightning, and both times proved to be a deadly portent of things to come. The first time, she lost her friend and her job as a police officer. The second, Maida Livingstone, the dear old woman she was hired to protect, disappeared. Jackson Blade has also lost someone: a teenage girl he was tracking as a part of a drug investigation. Nothing about her murder makes sense to the undercover cop until he attends her funeral and discovers a connection to Maida and Campbell. Realising their separate investigations lead down the same path, Campbell and Jackson join forces to expose a killer. For Campbell, the encounter is as powerful as a bolt of lightning. But will it prove as dangerous? (American)

A Rebecca Moore mystery #1. Rebecca has had more than her fill of dead men. The first, her lover David, took his own life in her bedroom, a totally senseless act of violence that caused a severely shaken Rebecca to quit her job as an investigative journalist and flee to rural Maryland to run her late Uncle Walt's classic automobile restoration shop. Out here she faces a very different strain of rampant craziness, not to mention a motley collection of potentially dangerous, allegedly reformed ex-convict employees she has inherited. As she tries to settle in, a second male corpse surfaces, murdered and stuffed into a glass beading machine on the shop floor. Now, with a sexy cop who is more interested in her than in the case, and with more death in the offing, Rebecca is going to have to resort to what she does best: find the facts, finger a culprit and somehow stay alive. The Secrets of Life 510pp Pb 21.95

An Aristotle and Stephanos novel. 330 BC, Athens. The Macedonian Alexander the Great has conquered Asia Minor but now his armies are far from Athens, and those who support Athenian independence are beginning to chafe and plot against him. Foreigners, like Aristotle, and those suspected of befriending foreigners, such as Stephanos, are threatened. A series of threats persuade them to quit the mainland and so they find suitable excuses: Aristotle has to transport a sick student home to Rhodos, while Stephanos must find a relative of his bride-to-be Philomela to clear up an inheritance dispute. With a varied cast of travellers, they set sail across the Aegean to the sacred Isle of Delos, to Mykonos and beyond, to the coast of Asia Minor. There they will soon be embroiled in investigating conspiracy and murder. But first they must survive life on the high seas where storms and piracy honour no man, least of all the greatest philosopher who has ever lived. (English)

Auriel Rising 383pp Tp 34.95

1609, London. Since the night that young Ned Warriner set upon the guards escorting a Catholic prisoner to the Tower of London, allowing the accused spy to escape a brutal death, he has been in self-imposed exile, supporting himself as a mercenary soldier abroad. Now, in spite of the danger, he has returned to his native land, where his beloved Kate Revill has married a Catholic-hunter. Kate, like Ned, still yearns for the passion they once shared but discovery would risk both their lives. One thing, though, could change his dire circumstances: the letter he possesses, addressed to "Auriel," won with dice and nearly forgotten. It may contain what many in London are buzzing about: the secret of the Philosopher's Stone, the method for making gold. (English)

Jean-Francois ABGRALL Inside the Mind of a Killer

262pp Pb 24.95

In the duel between a small-town cop and France's most dangerous serial killer, the advantage appeared heavily in favour of Francis Heaulme, the criminal known as the 'man from nowhere', who may have killed more than 50 men, women and children. Faced with a master of ingenious alibis and innate resistance to interrogation, all his gendarmerie opponent could count on was instinct. This psychological hunt for a killer has echoes of Dostoevsky: Heaulme never spoke murders. He referred to 'pepins', or bothersome details, before noting days when pepins coincided with killings he had supposedly witnessed. He had no criminal record and was scrupulous in living in the law. While he is thought to have been involved at least 50 murders, Heaulme once said that "every time I visited somewhere there was a pepin." So far, 400 towns and villages have been identified where Heaulme stayed. Paul Webster in The Observer, reviewing the French edition, said: "This is the best, clearest, most decisive account of the work of a detective possible. It shows how deadly criminals can only be caught by a combination of luck, patience - and most important of all, skill and determination. It is frightening stuff." (French)

Steven LONG

Out of Control 374pp Pb 15.95

The Clara Harris murder case. Clara and David Harris were married on Valentine's Day. Young and in love, they developed a thriving dental business, built a half-million-dollar mansion and raised the perfect family.

Then whispers of an affair between David and his beautiful secretary drifted through their exclusive Houston social circle. A private detective confirmed the rumours. When Clara saw her husband with his mistress, she climbed behind the wheel of her luxurious car and put an end to their charmed life together ... by crushing her husband to death underneath the wheels of her silver Mercedes-Benz. Bill MASON

Grand Theft 365pp Pb 22.95

Confessions of a master jewel thief. By day a mild mannered family man, by night a notorious cat burglar; Bill Mason relieved the rich and famous of more than $50 million worth of jewellery during his 30-year career. He stole from the likes of Bob Hope, Truman Capote, Phyllis Diller and even the Mob, but spent less than three years in prison. (American)

John PEARSON

One of the Family

357pp Hb 49.95

The Englishman and the Mafia. John Pearson's The Cult of Violence: The Untold Story of the Krays (Pb 19.95) created the myth of the Kray twins, and remains a True Crime classic, the best book on East London villains and a book that started a mini publishing industry. Pearson knows the London crime scene as well as anyone, which is why he was surprised while attending Ronnie Kray's funeral to see a man to whom all the other villains deferred, but whom he did not recognise. Investigation revealed that this man, known as "the Englishman", was never mentioned in any of the previous books on villainy because everyone was too scared to say his name (very Harry Potter) he was as legendary a figure on the streets of New York as on the streets of London. Pearson persuaded him to talk and the result was a story even more extraordinary than that of the overexposed Krays. He became the adopted son of Joey Pagano, the head of one of the major New York crime families. Here the Englishman tells the story that no one else dared to tell. (English)

Amanda SEAMAN

Bodies of Evidence

196pp Tp 43.00

Women, Society, and Detective Fiction in 1990s Japan. Amanda Seaman's study moves beyond the borders of detective fiction scholarship by exploring the worlds constructed by these authors in their novels and showing how they intersect with other political, cultural and economic discourses and with the lived experiences of contemporary Japanese women. Harold SCHECHTER

Depraved

418pp Pb 18.95

The definitive true story of HH Holmes, whose grotesque crimes shattered turn-of-the-century Chicago. This authoritative account chronicles the methods and madness of a monster, who slipped easily into a bright, affluent midwestern suburb where no one suspected he was the architect of a labyrinthine Castle of Horrors. Holmes admitted to 27 murders by the time his madhouse of trapdoors, asphyxiation devices, body chutes and acid vats was exposed. The seminal profile of a homegrown madman in the era of Jack the Ripper, this book is also a mesmerising tale of true detection long before the age of technological wizardry. (American)

Ron STEPHENSON

The Scent of a Crime

239pp Pb 24.95

As Detective Superintendent-in-Charge of Operations at the Criminal Investigations Branch, the author was responsible for the investigation of all major crime in NSW. In this book he relives some of those investigations. (Australian)

Carlton STOWERS

Innocence Lost

319pp Pb 15.95

With chilling detail, Stowers illuminates a dark corner of America's heartland and the children who hide there. What he found was an alienated subculture of drug abuse, the occult and an unfathomable teenage rage that exploded at point blank range on a shocking night of lost innocence. (American)

Ronald THOMAS

Detective Fiction and the Rise of Forensic Science

341pp Tp 69.95

Cambridge Studies in 19th century Literature and Culture series. This is the first book about the relationship between the development of forensic science in the 19th century and the invention of a new literary genre of detective fiction in Britain and America. Ronald Thomas examines the criminal body as a site of interpretation and enforcement in a wide range of fictional examples, from Poe, Dickens and Hawthorne through Twain and Conan Doyle to Hammett, Chandler and Christie. He is especially concerned with the authority the literary detective manages to secure through the 'devices' - fingerprinting, photography, lie detectors - with which he discovers the truth and establishes his expertise, and the way in which those devices relate to broader questions of cultural authority at decisive moments in the history of the genre. This is an interdisciplinary project, framing readings of literary texts with an analysis of contemporaneous developments in criminology, the rules of evidence and modern scientific accounts of identity.
